Dan Gilbert

Majority Owner, Cleveland Cavaliers
Chairman and Founder, Quicken Loans Inc.

Dan Gilbert is chairman and founder of Quicken Loans, Inc., the nation‟s largest online home lender. Dan is also majority owner of the NBA‟s Cleveland Cavaliers, the American Hockey League‟s Lake Erie Monsters, and is the operator of the Quicken Loans Arena in Cleveland, Ohio.

Dan became majority owner of the NBA's Cleveland Cavaliers in March 2005. Gilbert has created a championship-caliber culture in every aspect of the Cavaliers organization, both on the court and off.

The ownership group has invested over $30 million in Quicken Loans Arena upgrades and renovations, including new fan seats, an HD-quality center-hung video scoreboard unit, video and sound systems, arena graphics, signage, security, player locker rooms, suite upgrades and administrative offices, as well as the development of a new and separate $25 million player development and training center named Cleveland Clinic Courts. Cleveland Clinic Courts is the model for team practice facilities around the NBA.

The Cavs are the only team in the NBA to advance past the first round of the NBA Playoffs in each of the last four seasons. The team‟s 36 playoff victories over the past four seasons is also the most by any team in the NBA during that period. In four seasons at the helm of the Cavaliers, 2009 NBA Coach of the Year Mike Brown, the only head coach hired under Gilbert‟s ownership, has recorded the best winning percentage of any coach in the teams‟ 39 year history.

The team recorded a league-leading and franchise-best home record of 39-2 last season and the Cavs also set franchise records this season in home attendance and sellouts (38 of 41 games) with an average attendance of 20,512 fans (capacity 20,562).

The Monsters finised their second season in 2008-09 with the ninth-highest average attendance in the AHL, up from 11th the year before. The team sent 15 players to play with their NHL affiliate, the Colorado Avalanche, 11 of who made their NHL debut. Lake Erie‟s second season also saw a 30% increase in group ticket sales, 11% increase in season ticket sales and 33% increase in corporate sales. For the second straight year, the Monsters game presentation efforts were honored with the 2009 Golden Matrix Award for Best Overall Video Display – Minor League Division from the Information Display and Entertainment Association.

Quicken Loans has closed $15 billion in home loan volume through the first half of 2009. The company employs nearly 3,000 people and has been ranked in the Top 30 of FORTUNE Magazine's "100 Best Companies to Work For" the past six years (ranking as high as #2). The company also has been ranked as one of Computerworld Magazine's "100 Best Places to Work in Technology" the past five years, ranking #1 in 2005, 2006 and 2007.

Dan founded Rock Financial in 1985 as a 23–year old first–year law student. Rock Financial grew into one of the largest independent mortgage lenders in the country. In 1998, the company went public in an IPO led by Bear Stearns, Inc.

In January 1999, the company launched its Internet strategy and quickly positioned itself as the fastest growing online direct mortgage lender on the Internet.

In January 2000, software maker Intuit purchased Rock Financial and the national online lending business was renamed "Quicken Loans." With Dan staying on as CEO, Quicken Loans became the leading national provider of home loans on the Internet. QuickenLoans.com has gone on to earn "Best of the Web" accolades from Forbes, Money and PC Magazine.

In 2002, Gilbert led a small group of private investors and purchased Quicken Loans Inc., back from Intuit; Quicken Loans has been privately held since that time. The company retains all rights to the „Quicken Loans, Inc.‟ trademarks.

Dan became majority owner of the Cleveland Cavaliers in March 2005 and immediately undertook a complete overhaul of the front office, coaching staff, player personnel, and game presentation.

In addition, the ownership group has invested $30 million in the Quicken Loans Arena (known as "The Q"), including new seats, one of the largest HD-quality center-hung scoreboards and video displays in the NBA, other new video and sound systems, arena graphics, signage, security elements, player locker rooms, suite upgrades and administrative offices, as well as the development of a new $25 million player development and training center named the Cleveland Clinic Courts.

During Dan‟s second year of ownership, the Cavaliers won the 2007 Eastern Conference Championship by beating the Detroit Pistons, advancing to the NBA Finals for the first time in the 37-year history of the franchise. The team finished the 2008-2009 regular season with a franchise record and NBA-leading 66 wins and the Cavaliers are currently the only team in the NBA to advance past the first round of the playoffs in each of the prior four seasons.

Dan and his partners also operate and invest in several consumer–based, technology-centered businesses, including: online promotions company ePrize, based in Pleasant Ridge, Mich.; Fathead LLC in Livonia, Mich. (and with a distribution center near Columbus, Ohio); Northcentral University; StyleCaster in New York City; Veritix in Cleveland, Ohio; and Boston-based Xenith LLC.

ePrize is the global leader in the interactive promotions industry, using online promotions, including sweepstakes and reward programs, to help companies establish direct relationships with their clients. One of the fastest growing segments in the marketing industry, interactive promotions drive immediate and measurable results to a wide range of marketing objectives, and help initiate and nurture direct, permission-based relationships with clients.

Fathead LLC exclusively licenses and sells a new category of product for the true sports enthusiast. A “Fathead” is a life-size, colorful, vinyl wall graphic of popular sports stars from the NBA, NFL, NHL and MLB in an action pose, as well as pro and college team helmets and logos, in addition to NASCAR racecars and Hollywood entertainment characters.

Northcentral University is a leading accredited online university providing bachelor‟s, master‟s and doctoral degree programs in business and technology management, education and psychology. The fully accredited institution currently enlists 8,000 students from all 50 states and 52 other countries in its programs.

StyleCaster is the web‟s first integrated fashion experience, providing a personal style discovery platform that incorporates the highest quality content, interactivity, and technology. Determined to create the most innovative and engaging user experience in the market, StyleCaster will be the first truly interactive and intelligent channel in the fashion space.

Veritix has created technology and processes that replace physical tickets for large sports and entertainment events with an electronic approach and offers a secure, online marketplace for transferring and selling tickets in a digital format. The Cavaliers are the first team in professional sports to use this new technology.

Xenith LLC has developed an innovative helmet technology that reduces the risk and severity of concussions and other traumatic brain injuries.

Dan was Rawlings Sporting Goods‟ largest shareholder and was instrumental in effecting the sale of Rawlings to K2 Sports in March 2003.

Other significant investments include Xeko, the award winning line of educational eco-adventure toys and games made sustainably using earth-friendly materials with minimal packaging. The Seattle-based company donates a percentage of net sales to conservation efforts to save Earth‟s biodiversity hotspots, and it is currently working to extend the brand into television and film projects.

Gilbert is a founding partner in private equity group Rockbridge Growth Equity LLC. The partnership invests in growing businesses in the financial services, Internet technology, consumer-direct marketing, and the sports and entertainment sectors.

He also is an investor and financier with Rock Companies in residential and commercial real estate developments in several states.

In 2007 Dan launched Bizdom U in Detroit. The non-profit academy trains, mentors and finances young entrepreneurs and their start-up businesses in the city of Detroit. Bizdom U‟s mission is to create successful businesses, jobs, growth and wealth in large urban cities.

Quicken Loans is also the lead sponsor of Rock Financial JA Finance Park in downtown Detroit, a program that teaches school age children about money and finance.

Gilbert serves on the boards of the Cleveland Clinic, the Children’s National Medical Center in Washington, D.C., and the Children’s Tumor Foundation in New York City. He is a former president of JARC, based in suburban Detroit.

Dan has been the keynote speaker at the Harvard Business School, The University of Michigan and the NAACP annual convention, among other organizations.

He is a frequent guest on CNBC‟s business programs including guest-hosting CNBC‟s Morning Call as well as numerous appearances on ESPN, CNN and FOX.

Gilbert earned his bachelor‟s degree from Michigan State University and his law degree from Wayne State University.

He has received the “Entrepreneur of the Year” award from Ernst & Young and has been inducted into the Junior Achievement Hall of Fame.

Dan resides in Michigan with his wife and their five children.

Len Komoroski
President, Cavaliers/Quicken Loans Arena
Governor, Lake Erie Monsters

Len Komoroski was named president of the Cavaliers/Quicken Loans Arena organization in April 2003. Komoroski brings more than 25 years of experience in professional sports and entertainment to the organization. His leadership and business initiative bring a solid foundation from which the Cleveland Cavaliers, Lake Erie Monsters and Quicken Loans Arena can continue to thrive and flourish.

During the 2003-04 season, Komoroski oversaw the restructuring of how the Cavaliers approached the business community, including the development of a staff featuring some of the top sports marketing executives in the industry. Those efforts, combined with one very special NBA draft and the team"s improvement on the court, resulted in one of the top business turnaround stories in NBA history. The Cavaliers had the largest year-over-year attendance increase in NBA history, progressing from a league-low of 11,497 per game in 2002-03 to 18,288 in 2003-04 – a 59% increase. Television ratings were up 300% and featured revised broadcast agreements resulting in the largest number of locally-televised games in team history. Radio ratings also increased by more than 200% and local merchandise sales grew by 500%. The Cavaliers also experienced the largest increase in corporate partnership revenue in the NBA last season. He also led the charge in the transformation of the Cavaliers communications efforts and dramatic changes in developing one of the most dynamic game experiences in the NBA.

Since then, Komoroski has led continued growth and development across the board bringing the Cavs into the top tier of revenue teams in the NBA. The Cavaliers experienced a history-making, record-breaking 2008-09 regular season on the court, as well as off the court. Two new franchise records were set in average attendance (20,512) and the number of sellouts (38 total, with the last 29 games of the season all sold out.) Compared to the previous season, Cavaliers merchandise sales were up 80% and local cable TV ratings on FS Ohio increased another 110%. The franchise"s overall business success culminated for Komoroski and the entire organization when the Cavaliers were one of only five professional sports teams (NBA Celtics, NHL Blackhawks, MLD Rays, and MLB Brewers) in the United States to be named a finalist for the prestigious Sports Business Journal"s 2009 Sports Team of the Year Award. The award recognizes excellence in sports franchise business operations. The franchise was also #1 in the NBA and #5 in all of pro sports in the 2009 ESPN The Magazine Rankings of How Pro Sports Teams Pay Back Their Fans.

Among his many achievements at the helm of the Cavaliers business operations, Komoroski played a pivotal role in developing one of the top cable television relationships in the NBA with FSN Ohio, as well as the entitlement of the Cavaliers new state-of-the-art player development facility – Cleveland Clinic Courts. In addition, he played a leadership role in the acquisition of its American Hockey League franchise, the Lake Erie Monsters, which played their inaugural season at The Q in 2007-08. In just their second season, the Monsters corporate sales revenue increased over 33%, group sales were up by 30%, and the team moved up from 11th to 9th in league attendance in 2008-09.

While with the Philadelphia Eagles, Komoroski brought many properties in-house, including the Eagles Television Network, which is the largest developer of local programming in the NFL. Under his guidance, the Eagles established the fan-friendly NFL Training Camp, which was the most heavily attended in the league, featuring autograph sessions, interactive games, hospitality and an extraordinary merchandise tent. He also helped broker a record-setting naming rights deal with NovaCare, garnering a reported $66 million for the Eagles training facility, the NovaCare Complex.

Komoroski also played a leadership role in the development of Lincoln Financial Field, the Eagles state-of-the-art stadium. Through his efforts, the Eagles secured a 20-year, $140 million naming rights agreement with Lincoln Financial Group, which at the time was one of the largest such agreements in pro sports history. He and his business group orchestrated the successful sellout of 172 suites, 8,000 club seats, 29,000 Stadium Builder Licenses and a waiting list of over 40,000 for season tickets.

Through the efforts of Komoroski and his team, the Eagles were among the most successful NFL teams in securing long-term seven-figure per annum "Founding Partner" relationships for the new stadium; in addition, they forged many other substantial six-figure per annum agreements. He also completed top-tier industry agreements for Eagles radio and television coverage and concession agreements for Lincoln Financial Field. Behind Komoroski"s leadership, the organization secured major soccer events, concerts, Division I college football games and the Army/Navy Game, establishing Lincoln Financial Field as one of the most active stadiums in sports. Through these efforts and events the Eagles have become one of the highest grossing franchises in professional sports.

This is Komoroski"s second stint in the NBA, having been with the Minnesota Timberwolves from 1988-94 and having played a major role in the start-up of the team and its arena, the Target Center. While Komoroski was Vice President of Sales and the senior sales and marketing official for the team and arena, the Timberwolves became one of the most financially successful organizations in the league. After Minnesota, he came to Cleveland as senior vice president and chief operating officer of the International Hockey League"s (IHL) Cleveland Lumberjacks, and immediately transformed the Lumberjacks into a flourishing enterprise. Both attendance and revenues saw sharp increases during Komoroski"s time, and the Lumberjacks were one of three profitable IHL teams in 1996.

Komoroski got his start in sports in 1982 with the Pittsburgh Spirit of the Major Indoor Soccer League, followed by management roles with the Pittsburgh Penguins of the National Hockey League and the Minnesota Strikers of the MISL, and as a regional manager for the Miller Brewing Company"s sports marketing arm.

Komoroski"s achievements in professional sports have attracted considerable attention, and he has assumed leadership positions in several capacities. He is on the board of directors of the Cleveland chapters of City Year, the American Red Cross, American Cancer Society Golf Tournament and the United Way, as well as the board of Positively Cleveland. He is also a member of the Young Presidents Organization, the 50 Club and the Bluecoats.

Komoroski is a 1982 cum laude graduate of Duquesne University. He and his wife Denise are the parents of three daughters – Kristin, Kelly, Jamie and one son, Zachary.

Danny Ferry
General Manager

Danny Ferry was named the eighth general manager in Cleveland Cavaliers history on June 27, 2005.

In his four seasons with the Cavaliers, Ferry has focused on building a championship-caliber culture. He has lead the team through many successful signings and acquisitions which helped accomplish a franchise-high 66-win season in 2008-09 and back-to-back 50-win seasons (2005-07). The Cavs are currently the only team to advance to at least the second round of the playoffs in each of the past four seasons including the franchise‟s first-ever trip to the NBA Finals (2007) under Ferry‟s leadership.

In addition to player acquisitions, Ferry also oversees all scouting, player personnel and day-to-day activities of the Cavaliers‟ basketball operations team.

Ferry spent two seasons from 2003-2005 as the director of basketball operations for the San Antonio Spurs. As the director of basketball operations for the Spurs, Ferry was actively involved in all aspects of the basketball operations department with an emphasis on the draft and free agency. He also aided in the strategic planning for Spurs Sports and Entertainment.

During his time in the Spurs front office, San Antonio compiled a combined regular season and playoff record of 138-59 (.701). While in San Antonio, he won NBA Championships as both a member of the front office (2005) and as a player (2003).

Ferry, a 13-year NBA veteran, played the final three years of his career in San Antonio (2000-03). Prior to that, he spent 10 seasons in Cleveland as a member of the Cavaliers. He played in a franchise-record 723 regular season games (154 starts) and averaged 7.8 points and 3.0 rebounds in 20.8 minutes per game. Ferry‟s best season came during the 1995-96 season when he played in all 82 games (79 starts) with averages of 13.3 points and 3.8 rebounds in 32.7 minutes per game.

For his career, Ferry played in 917 games (186 starts) and averaged 7.0 points, and 2.8 rebounds in 19.8 minutes per game. He also played in 67 career playoff games (15 starts) in nine playoff appearances.

Ferry was the second overall pick in the 1989 NBA Draft by the Los Angeles Clippers. He spent the next season playing in Italy before the Cavaliers acquired Ferry along with Reggie Williams in exchange for Ron Harper, two first-round draft picks and a second-round pick from the Clippers on November 16, 1989.

Ferry won the 1989 Naismith Award as the nation‟s top player after averaging 22.6 points, 7.4 rebounds and 4.7 assists per game during his senior season at Duke. He was named First Team All-American as both a junior and a senior. He had his jersey retired at Duke and was inducted into the Duke Sports Hall of Fame in September 2004.

Ferry‟s father, Bob Ferry, was vice president/general manager of the Washington Bullets for 17 years and played in the NBA from 1959 through 1969 while his brother, Bobby, played at Harvard University and was selected by Atlanta in the seventh round of the 1985 NBA Draft.

Ferry (born Oct. 17, 1966) and his wife, Tiffany, have four daughters and one son: Hannah, Grace, Sophia, Lucy and Jackson.

Mike Brown
Cleveland Cavaliers Head Coach

Mike Brown was named the 17th head coach in Cleveland Cavaliers history on June 2, 2005. In his first four seasons at the helm of the Cavaliers, Brown has quickly recorded the best winning percentage of any coach in the team‟s 39-year history.

Brown earned Coach of the Year honors after the 2008-2009 season, was named Coach of the Month three times during the season (December, February and March) and along with his coaching staff earned the opportunity to coach the Eastern Conference All-Stars at the 2009 All-Star Game in Phoenix, Arizona. One of the NBA‟s top young coaches, Brown also led the Cavaliers to becoming only the 12th team in NBA history to have 66 wins, a franchise high. Brown was the fourth youngest coach in NBA to win 60 games.

With a combined regular season record of 211-117 (.643), which is the fifth-best record in the NBA over the last four years, Brown has posted at least 45 wins in each season. This represents the first time that Cleveland reached that mark in four straight seasons. After posting a 50-32 record in 2005-06, which was the most wins as a first-year head coach in team history, Brown became the first rookie head coach since the 2001-02 season to post 50 wins in a season. Brown followed that up with another 50-win season (50-32) in his second year, 45 wins (45-37) in his third year and 66 wins (66-16) in his fourth year.

In the postseason, Cleveland is the only team to have reached at least the second round of the playoffs in each of the last four seasons and one of just six teams in the NBA that qualified for the playoffs in each of the last four seasons. In those four playoff appearances, Brown has led the team to a record of 36-24 (.600), the third best playoff winning percentage in the NBA over that span, and 7-4 (.636) in playoff series, making him the winningest playoff head coach in team history. It was also the first time in franchise history the team had a winning record in four consecutive postseasons.

During his first playoff run as head coach, Brown led Cleveland to Eastern Conference Semifinals in the 2006 Playoffs and became the first coach in franchise history to lead his team to a playoff series win in his first season by defeating Washington 4-2 in the first round of the Eastern Conference playoffs in 2006. In the 2007 Playoffs, Brown led the Cavaliers to their first Eastern Conference Championship and a trip to the NBA Finals after Cleveland knocked off the Pistons 4-2 in the Eastern Conference Finals. He guided the Cavaliers to their first series sweep in the first round versus Washington and then led Cleveland to a 4-2 win in the conference semifinals against New Jersey. In the 2008 Playoffs, the Cavaliers defeated the Washington Wizards 4-2 before taking the eventual NBA Champion Boston Celtics to a seven-game series.

In the 2009 playoffs, the team swept the first two rounds, over the Detroit Pistons and Miami HEAT, for the first time in franchise history. The team finished the postseason at 10-4 (.714), which is the best record based on winning percentage in franchise history and the second-highest number of wins in a postseason, trailing only the 2007 playoffs when the team went 12-8 (.600).

Brown joined the Cavaliers after spending two seasons as the associate head coach of the Indiana Pacers and three seasons as an assistant coach for the San Antonio Spurs. His career record as an assistant coach was 341-201 (.629) and he won a division title with Indiana in 2003-04 and three straight division titles with San Antonio. He helped lead Indiana to consecutive playoff appearances including a trip to the Eastern Conference Finals in 2004. He was also on the bench for the Spurs during their 2003 World Championship season. While with the Spurs, Brown‟s teams won at least 58 games each season. He also was the head coach for the Spurs‟ summer league teams in Boston and Salt Lake City.

Brown spent three years with the Washington Wizards‟ staff beginning in 1997, spending the first two years as an assistant under Bernie Bickerstaff, and his final year as the team‟s professional scout.

The 39-year-old (born March 5, 1970 in Columbus, Ohio) began his NBA career with the Denver Nuggets in 1992, where he spent five seasons, first as the team‟s video coordinator and then as a scout.

He participated in the NBA‟s Basketball without Borders program in Johannesburg, South Africa in the summer of 2006. Mike and his wife, Carolyn, are actively involved in the Cavaliers‟ community relations initiatives including “Domestic Violence Center”, “Cleveland Municipal School District”, “Cleveland Christian Home”, and “Shoes & Clothes for Kids”.

Brown is a 1992 graduate of the University of San Diego with a degree in business. He played basketball two seasons at USD after spending two years at Mesa Community College. He attended high school in Germany at Wurzburg American High School. He and Carolyn have two sons, Elijah and Cameron.
